

How We Operate

At Green Worker Cooperatives, we do the upfront work required to turn a great idea into a self-sustaining enterprise and provide the necessary training for co-op members to become invested as both owners and workers.

We have opened our first cooperative, ReBuilders Source , a retail warehouse for surplus and salvaged building materials recovered from construction & demolition jobs.

We are advocates for zero waste in New York City and are building a base of community support in the South Bronx for worker ownership and “green collar” jobs through our Green Worker Co-op Academy.